Interludes for Organ

Stephen Rothwell

This collection of eighteen short pieces were written for those occasions during a church service when music is needed to cover movement or to create a bridge to the next part of the service. They are all based on hymn tunes and in most cases were originally used where the congregation had just sung the hymn concerned.

All the pieces can be played on a modest two manual and pedal instrument and the majority require one manual only. In a few cases, the use of pedals is required and in some others is optional. Tempo and registration suggestions are included as guidelines.
